Second arson fire destroys Costello-related business

Lotto business, house burn this morning

GRANITE CITY — Two fires of suspicious origin, including a Lotto sales business owned by U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, kept firefighters busy this morning.

Separate, unapparently unrelated fires destroyed the Super 1 Stop lottery and liquor store on West Chain of Rocks Road at Illinois Avenue and the house on Grand Ave.

Firefighters were called to the fire on Grand at 2:30 a.m. and were still actively fighting the fire there when the fire at Super 1 Stop was reported at 4 a.m.

Firefighters said the fire on Grand, a large two-story house on the corner on the even-numbered side of the street, had just been brought under control when the call for Super 1 Stop was made. They were still mopping up hot spots at the house as late as 7 a.m.

Super 1 Stop was reportedly engulfed in flames when the firefighters arrived. It was not occupied or open at the time of the fire.

The fire destroyed the exterior walls of half the building and gutted the interior of the remainder. Firefighters finished extinguishing the fire a little after 5 a.m.

The Super 1 Stop was also the target of attempted arson on June 6, but Costello said he didn't think the fires were politically motivated.

In the first fire, someone reportedly poured gasoline onto the roof and two walls of the building, but the only thing to burn was a gasoline can in the parking lot.

Ambulance firm begins service

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — A new ambulance service opened June 1, with Chouteau Township as its first customer.

David Stahlhut, president of Metro Ambulance Service at Illinois 162 and Illinois 111, said his company has signed a service agreement with Chouteau and hopes, within two weeks, to reach similar agreements with Nameoki Township and the Village of Pontoon Beach.

The current coverage area includes Mitchell, the southern part of Hartford and all of South Roxana.

Stahlhut, who has worked in the ambulance business for 20 years, said he formed the company after hearing complaints that he had received no response from the municipal ambulance in the northern section of its local coverage area.

"I guess people thought their response time was too long," he said.

Campbell's local base is in Madison. So, Stahlhut said, about nine months ago he and Tom Gauffman, an emergency medical technician, started talking to local officials about the possibility of changing services.

"The feeling we got was there was room for expansion and there was a real need for service in the north end."

Stahlhut said Metro Ambulance operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and offers a free 800 telephone number for its customers.

It is available for both emergency medical transportation, he said, and except when limited by law will take patients to their hospital of choice.

The service will charge a flat base rate of $85 for transfers and $105 for emergencies.

Metro Ambulance employs four emergency medical technicians and five paramedics. It has one ambulance in operation and another one on order, according to Stahlhut.

The City of Granite City also operates its own municipal ambulance service.

Principal considers job move a demotion

By Sam Hananel

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City School Board, in a surprise move Tuesday night, decided to remove High School Principal Kenneth Spalding from his post and appoint him temporarily as principal of Grigsby Junior High School.

An assistant high school principal, David Painter, was promoted to interim principal of the high school. Painter had been slated to become principal of Grigsby on July 1.

The two positions will be posted as vacant and others could apply for consideration, a school official said.

Spalding and Painter said they were not consulted before the decision was made. Spalding was present at the school board meeting and the temporary appointment was made after a long closed-door executive session. Painter said he got the news Tuesday night when Superintendent Gilbert Walmsley telephoned him after the meeting.

Walmsley gave "no explanation for the switch" but "he's not considering this a demotion. We're considering it a lateral move, part of the overall administrative alignment."

Walmsley stressed that the new positions are only temporary until the board makes permanent appointments at the June 26 board meeting.

When asked if he considered the move a demotion, Spalding said, "I think I'd have to. There's certainly less pay involved and I'm going from a school of almost 2,500 students to one of 500 students. ... I had no idea this was happening."

Walmsley said Spalding will maintain his current salary.

He said the board took the temporary action "because they didn't want Mr. Spalding to think he wouldn't have a job." The switch at this time was also necessary to comply with state laws dealing with notice and compensation, Walmsley said.

Between now and the next meeting, the board will be accepting applications for both jobs. Paul Ray Bowler, school board vice president, said the district posted both yesterday.

Although Painter and Spalding are among those eligible to apply, Bowler said there is no guarantee that either will keep his new post.

Spalding was principal of Grigsby during the 1985-86 academic year before going to Granite City High School as principal in 1986.

He would not speculate on the reason for his removal, but said he would not appeal the vote.

"They've made their decision," Spalding said.

Painter would not say if he'll seek the high school post. "(It's) a very difficult situation. A good friend of mine has been removed from his position and I have been called to replace him."

Venice out after trash-to-energy

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

VENICE — Several city officials — including Madison County Board member met for nearly three hours Tuesday afternoon with a representative of a company that builds incinerators to hear details about the company and its proposed trash-to-energy plant it operated.

Don Garrett, the county board member who represents the Venice area, said he was impressed with the presentation by Hunter Taylor of Black &amp; Veatch, a Kansas City-based civil engineering firm.

"I think it's a viable project for Venice," Garrett said.

The city hopes to persuade the county to include trash-to-energy in the city's comprehensive waste management plan.

At the City Council's last meeting, on June 5, Garrett urged the council to go on record with the County Board in support of such a plant.

The County Board has until June 20 to approve the plan and until June 26 to submit it to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for approval. The board meets June 20.

Alderman Shirley Franklin, who attended Tuesday's meeting, said he thought trash-to-energy "would be good for the city. It could put Venice back on the map."

Mayor Tyrone Echols, who once said he had been privately enthusiastic about the prospect of barges from all over the country arriving at the Venice boat dock with trash for such a plant, was reserved after Tuesday's meeting.

"There are a lot of components to be considered," Echols said. "Outfits like (Black &amp; Veatch) require a charge for dismantling trash. We can't currently afford a charge for trash pickup." Echols said no further meetings with Black &amp; Veatch were planned.

Garrett said there seemed to be "undercurrents of objection" within the council about the plant.

He was disturbed that the only people informed about Taylor's presentation were the mayor, local business leaders and plant boosters. Milton Morris, Alderman John Ervin and Alderman Fred Williams, who in turn informed Alderman Frank Frazee.

Williams and Ervin did not return phone calls Wednesday, but Ervin said last week that he was in favor of a trash-to-energy plant in Venice.

A plant capable of burning 50 tons of trash per day would produce dozens of jobs for residents of Venice and would provide the city government a percentage of the tipping fees charged for accepting trash.

But Taylor told city officials that Black &amp; Veatch needed two things from the City Council and one thing from the County Board:

• Assurances that the city would permit the plant to be built. It would require 10 to 20 acres, Taylor said.

• A promise to lead the effort to contract with other communities for their trash. The company

Job offices threatened

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

CHICAGO — Facing a $19 million fund shortfall, the Illinois Department of Employment Security said it may close up to 20 of its 63 offices and terminate up to 200 jobs on July 1.

The department, which handles unemployment insurance claims and payments, has an office in Granite City that employs approximately 20 people.

"We are now examining all of our 63 offices statewide to determine which offices to close and which positions to cut, but no decisions have been made yet," said Lynn Pierce, an Employment Security spokesman.

But, Pierce said, the department hopes a new funding source can be found that will stop most, if not all, of the closings.

"As this becomes public, we are hoping business leaders, labor leaders and the General Assembly will work to avert the closing of offices," Pierce said. "But, in the absence of a new funding source, we will have no other option but to close offices."

Girl beaten severely with belt

Granite City

A Granite City man was booked for battery for allegedly beating a 14-year-old girl with a belt all over her body.

Arthur A. Aleman, 39, of the 2400 block of Delmar Avenue was arrested June 13, the day of the alleged beating. He was released on $10,000 bond.

The victim, not related to Aleman, resides at the same address. She was treated and released at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Car stolen, burned

A car belonging to Ray E. Lane of the 2100 block of Lincoln Avenue was stolen during the evening of June 7 from a driveway behind Lane's apartment.

The 1983 Ford Escort was found burning at 9:20 p.m. at St. Thomas Road and Interstate 270 by a Madison County sheriff's deputy. Witnesses said young man with sandy-colored hair was seen running from the vehicle minutes before the fire.

Van, equipment stolen

Somebody made off with a van full of catering equipment from Jerry's Cafeteria, 1920 Edison Ave., during the evening of June 9. The off-white 1984 Ford van was stolen between 8 p.m. and 11 p.m.

2 persons hurt in crash

A local couple were injured June 11 when their car ran into the path of another car on Edwards Street. The driver of the second vehicle was not hurt.

Treated and released at St. Elizabeth Medical Center with minor injuries were the drivers of the first vehicle, Diane Martinez, 19, and her passenger, Mark A. Martinez, 21, both of the 2500 block of Madison Avenue.

Prison population soaring; women at record numbers

SPRINGFIELD — Corrections Director Kenneth McGinnis has reported that the adult prison population continues to rocket upward and now stands at 25,817.

The increase from Jan. 1 alone would almost fill three new 750-bed maximum security prisons that would cost as much as $150 million to build and $45 million annually to operate, he said.

"The adult prison population has increased by more than 2,000 since the beginning of the year and shows no sign of decreasing or even leveling off. That is an increase of 13 people daily," McGinnis said.

He noted that, although the overall population increase was dangerously high, the increase in women entering the system had reached explosive levels.

McGinnis said the Dwight Correctional Center population has gone up 1,000 since Jan. 1 and now stands at 16,871 percent of design capacity. Women now number a record 1,161 or 4.3 percent of the adult prison population, said McGinnis.

"While the overall adult prison population has increased by 35.7 percent during the past four years, the rate of increase for women has risen 50.7 percent," he said.

Lisa Armour of the 2500 block of Parkview Drive said she was westbound on Edwards when Martinez pulled in front of her. Martinez told police she stopped at Edwards and proceeded and then was struck by Armour's car.

No traffic citations were issued in connection with the accident, which happened at about 7:30 p.m.

Woman hit, man charged

Norman R. Lucas, 25, of the 1100 block of Greenwood Avenue in Madison was booked for battery for allegedly punching and kicking Mary A. Barton of the 2200 block of E. 23rd Street at the Illinois Motel in Granite City.

On June 9, Barton also said Lucas broke a chair over her back.

Police discovered Lucas was wanted in Pontiac Beach for failure to appear in court to face a charge of criminal trespass. He was released on $204 cash bail.

Barton was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she was treated and released.

Five juveniles arrested

Five juvenile boys from Granite City were caught in the act of burglarizing Earl's Sporting Goods warehouse, 1901 Cleveland Blvd., on June 11.

A patrolman found an open window and ordered whoever was inside to come out. They would send in a police dog. The boys, ages 12, 13, 18, 12 and 12 surrendered. They were released to the custody of their parents.

The driver of the other auto,

Man booked for battery

Ricky L. Brooks of the 2400 block of Edwards Street was arrested and charged with battery for allegedly punching Janet Denson, also of Edwards Street, while the two were sitting in a car July 10 on the parking lot of the Tip-Top Tavern, 18th and State streets. A policeman saw them arguing in the vehicle.

Gun possession alleged

Police investigating a multi-car accident in the 1400 block of State Street on June 7 alleged seeing John E. Ashburn, 37, of the 2000 block of West Chestnut of Rocks Road throw a pistol over a fence. A .357 magnum with four live rounds in it was recovered.

Ashburn was charged with unlawful possession of a firearm by a convicted felon. He was released on $2,002 cash bail.

Three children injured

Three young children suffered injuries in a traffic accident at 5:45 p.m. June 8 on Illinois 162 about 500 feet east of the Maryville Road intersection.

Antonia M. Coughlin, 31, of the 2400 block of Lincoln Avenue said she was slowing her car at the railroad crossing when a van operated by Eugene T. Coughlin Jr., 31, of Belleville collided with the rear of her auto.

Coughlin was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

Three youngsters in the Mueller car were hurt. The children were Michele M. Milton, 6, Jacqueline R. Milton, 5 months, and Jennifer A. Milton, 3, all of the 2400 block of Lincoln Avenue.

Booked on felony possession of cocaine

Fannie M. Ford, 24, of the 100 block of Weaver Street was arrested June 6 and, later charged with felony possession of a controlled substance.

Police said a policeman saw Ford driving on Weaver Street and recognized her as not having a valid driver's license. Police alleged that when she saw them, she switched seats with a passenger in her car.

When police stopped the car, Ford allegedly threw a perfume bottle out of the car. The bottle was found to contain several "rocks" of crack cocaine.

Police said Ford tried to run away and when caught, kicked an officer in the leg. She was also charged with resisting arrest and driving without a valid driver's license and was transferred to the Madison County Jail, Edwardsville, where she was held in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Reports N. Venice rape

A Madison woman told police a man raped her in a wastewater tunnel in the 1300 block of Market Street. The woman

McGinnis again advised that legislation now before the Illinois Senate is not a long-term solution to prison crowding. It is short-term option will allow the state approximately one year in which to thoroughly address the crowding problem that currently plagues our prison system," he said.

McGinnis said the Dwight Correctional Center population has gone up 1,000 since Jan. 1 and now stands at 16,871 percent of design capacity. Women now number a record 1,161 or 4.3 percent of the adult prison population, said McGinnis.

"While the overall adult prison population has increased by 35.7 percent during the past four years, the rate of increase for women has risen 50.7 percent," he said.

The driver of the other auto, flagged down a patrolman at about 2 a.m. June 11 to report the rape, which she said had happened earlier that night.

The woman described her assailant as about six feet tall

That is only one part of the government's attack on high-technology counterfeiting.

"We're going after the owners of color copiers, as well as those who have offset printing shops, that their equipment may be seized by the government if it is used for counterfeiting," says Robert Snow, assistant director of the office of government liaison of the U.S. Secret Service. "Counterfeiting has become easier and more expensive to get easier still. In the past 20 years, counterfeiting has required less technical ability, due mostly to the automation of offset printing."

In recent cases high-quality color copying machines have been used to produce "funny money." But copiers are not as big a problem as you might imagine. At least not yet.

The real problem for laser copiers cost $40,000, so there is a limited number of them," Snow says. "We try to keep track of them, and right now that's a simple task because they're expensive and cumbersome."

"But they'll get cheaper over the next few years. This is why we have newer features in the currency beginning next year."

This summer, large bills—$50 and $100 denominations—will begin to have security features in the form of intrinsic threads that are imprinted with, among other things, a unique combination signifying the denomination. This will defy a copier's resolution.

Still other overseas counterfeiters are coping with the idea of importing the fake bills into the United States.

"Last year, one-fourth of the counterfeit currency was produced in the last legitimate holder of counterfeit currency is the loser, the one who is out the face value of the currency."

Over the years a kind of lore has grown up around counterfeiters. One of the most common is that it is fairly easy to pass American money overseas, and in some places it even could remain in circulation for some time. This might be of concern to travelers, but that finding themselves in the uncomfortable position of holding counterfeit currency. It is important to be watchful.

the United States was printed in Colombia," Snow says. "It followed the drug trade into the country, which is how we were able to seize it back."

In a typical year, about $100 million in counterfeit currency will be seized by the Secret Service. Most of it will be seized in raids on counterfeiting operations before it made its way to the streets.

Counterfeit money can remain in circulation almost forever, so long as it doesn't find its way to a bank.

If frequently turns up in the night deposits of banks, Snow says. "People go over those deposits first thing in the morning, both to make sure the amounts of the deposits are correct and to make sure there are no counterfeit bills in the mix," he says.

The dollar is highly desired in many countries, though residents of those countries are less familiar with U.S. currency than are Americans. The reason is that it is fairly easy to pass American money overseas, and in some places it even could remain in circulation for some time. Over the years a kind of lore has grown up around counterfeiters. One of the most common is that it is difficult to identify except under special lights, or that the ink won't rub off. That is nonsense, according to the Secret Service. Counterfeit money is relatively easy to identify.

The ink looks as though it has been kissed on, not imprinted, as it is with legitimate currency.

Minister says darnedest thing

Church ain't what it used to be, the man said.

Ken Hileman of Granite City, a computer systems analyst at Granite City Steel, told this story about how he and his girlfriend took advantage of a lovely Sunday morning in April to attend a church in Anna, Ill.

The church was Mount Moriah Lutheran Church. Hileman had been there before on several occasions over the years — including the church's pastor who was a woman.

"We were sitting in the last few rows (after the opening music) when she came walking down the aisle, all dressed up in her flowing robes. She stopped, put her hand on my shoulder and said, 'What brings you to Anna, handsome?'

"I kind of slumped down in the pew," Hileman said. But he recovered enough to say, "Well, it was a nice day and we just thought we'd drive down to see you folks."

But his girlfriend put the uh, fear of God in him.

"When did she start calling you 'handsome'?"

Hileman laughed. "But really, it's nice to see a minister that warm and open."

It's nice to have an understanding girlfriend, too.

Goldenberg selected for leadership

By Sam Hananel

GRANITE CITY — City Attorney Mark Goldenberg is one of 54 people just selected to participate in the 1990-91 Leadership St. Louis Program.

Goldenberg considers it an honor to be chosen for the program. "I know there was a high qualified group of nominees," he said.

The 15-year-old program encourages the development of leadership among people coming to terms with the quality of life in the greater St. Louis region. It is funded by the Danforth Foundation.

Goldenberg said another goal of the program is to make civic leaders available to facing the region, as well as attempting to solve those problems.

He said he is pleased that Leadership St. Louis is including people from various sectors of society. "Sometimes there's a concept on the other side that the world stops at the Mississippi River," he said.

The program is held two days a month, nine months, during which participants become permanent members.

"One of the things that we look for is a commitment to the community," said Lynn Coulombe, assignment to the program of seed.

Leadership St. Louis Inc., the parent organization for the annual leader selections as well as other programs that train executives new to the region, elected officials and high school students.

Coulombe said there were 260 applications for the 54 Leadership St. Louis selections this year.

After applicants were interviewed, finalists were chosen based on such factors as geographical areas as well as getting an even mix between members from the private and public sectors.

Granite Citizens chosen for the program in past years include Ted Eilerman, president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, and Eric Robertson of the law firm of Lueders, Robertson and Konzen.

"I think it was a great experience to be involved in those programs," Eilerman said. "You get to know a lot of other people in the business community. It provides a lot of networking."

BELLEVILLE — St. Clair County voters will have the final say on whether they want to foot the $5 million it will take to pay for day-to-day operations of the new Metro Link light-rail system.

A preliminary study by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council said Metro Link's operating costs would be met by the county's current 1/4-cent sales tax.

Consequently, residents would be faced with voting for a tax increase in order to keep the light-rail running.

However, the tax, which could come in any form, would find its way to the St. Clair County Transit District. According to Transit District chairperson Delores Lysakowski, deciding now whether to ask for the levy is a big decision.

"There's nothing to start screaming about now, but we still have to think about it," she said. "Do we want the Metro Link and whether we want to pay for it are viable questions. We should be looking at how to get the additional money needed."

The 18-mile rail line from East St. Louis to Lambert-St. Louis International Airport will cost about $285 million. It's scheduled to open in July 1993.

Currently, East-West Gateway is studying whether to extend the rail to Scott Air Force Base and is examining three routes, one along Interstate 64, along Illinois 100, and following the Norfolk & Southern Railroad through Belleville.

Lysakowski said the tax, which is earmarked for the 14-county transit district, generates about $3.7 million a year. That money is used to keep the district's 90 buses operational.

The district also makes nearly $200,000 a month in rider fares, $4.5 million a year from the Metra East state fund and $1.4 million a year in federal subsidies in order to meet its $13 million budget, Lysakowski said.

While Lysakowski didn't rule out a fare hike on existing bus routes, a tax increase of more than 1/4-cent would be the most logical choice.

According to East-West Gateway, the choice will be the three suggested routes will not be made until at least next year.

But until then, county residents need to discuss how badly they want the rail line.

"It's necessary to start looking at alternative revenue sources since fed subsidies are being cut back," said Mark Myavec, manager of policy and systems planning for East-West Gateway. "There are few other ways to come up with the needed funding."

City owes some answers

One week, Capt. Glenn Wright looks like a goat; the next, he's got his old job back with the Granite City Police Department. Meanwhile, city officials are running around looking for all the world like they are covering their tail. What gives?

Wright was suspended with pay May 29 pending a hearing that was to be held before the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. That hearing never took place, because a mere five days later Wright was back at work, after lawyers from both sides huddled and came up with an agreement.

Wright had been the subject of an internal investigation, seeking a deal with a lawnmower missing from the police department's property bin located at the street department. The mower was discovered missing when the original owner showed up to claim it.

Wright was said to have been given the mower by city Safety Director Dick Portell and to have used it to build a go-carl for Wright's grandson. Wright admitted to having the mower when asked.

What happened in this case? Was it OK for Wright to have the mower or not? Did the city jump the gun in suspending him? What is the outcome of the "investigation?" When will the public know?

There are more questions, but we'll throw those out for pondering.

If police officials are willing to cast aspersions upon one of their own officers, then they should also be willing to explain why or how they could so quickly let the man back on the force. If he was never guilty of anything, we're sure both he and the public would like to know. If he was guilty of anything, tell us what that anything is.

There appears to be far more to the case than we've been told. Police Chief Don Knight, Mayor Von Dee Cruse and Safety Director Dick Portell owe the public some answers.

Big-buck binge for Bears?

Although we applaud limited Missouri state involvement in creating a stadium at the St. Louis convention center, some Illinois legislators want to take extreme steps to finance improvements exceeding $1 billion in Chicago.

House Majority Leader Jim McPike of Alton is right in raising questions about proposals to move Lake Shore Drive, build a domed stadium for the Chicago Bears football team and add a million-square-foot convention hall at the McCormick Place exposition center on the shore of Lake Michigan.

Proposals include an increase in the statewide hotel-motel tax (.76 instead of 6 percent), a higher Chicago hotel-motel tax (14.2 instead of 12.4 percent), doubling of the statewide tax on car rentals (10 percent instead of 5 percent), a new 2.5 percent tax on downtown Chicago restaurants and use of a $4.9 million surplus from state-aided construction of the Chicago White Sox' new baseball stadium.

More than $1.38 million in bonds would be issued — a mighty substantial sum. If the plan cannot be stopped entirely, McPike and others may want to sweeten it some what for Downstate Illinois.

In this area, ideas might well include a state grant to help finance the Mid-America Aquacentre proposed for Pontoon Beach, and assurance that Federal Aid Primary 413 construction will be expedited to link I-270/255 here with the Alton area.

In addition, House Minority Leader Lee Daniels has suggested property tax relief and environmental initiatives, mayors have called for aid to repair and purify water systems, and State Sen. Vince DeMuzio has urged more funding for schools, health, prisons and pollution control.

Not everything can be done at once, of course, but goals and problems in all parts of Illinois must to be taken into account.

Museums for fast-minded, but you'll need some time

It's summertime and the living is easy — particularly when vacation rolls around.

Minions rolled in last week, and just before the family visited a couple of great Midwestern attractions.

Based on advice of others, we took Interstate 70 west, first stop the Indianapolis 500 Speedway Hall of Fame, and then on to Dayton, Ohio, where we took in the United States Air Force Museum at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

The Speedyway Hall is filled with memorabilia of the past, covering the life and times of driving legends, from the 500's first four-time winner, A.J. Foyt, to the most recent driver to win the 500, to those who continue to make their mark, such as Rick Mears and Danny Sullivan.

Various model cars from 1909 to today are displayed. And a bus tour is set up to follow around the track, while a tape voice outs the highlights. The bus, incidentally, goes a bit slower than 200 mph.

The Speedyway visit was very educational. A total of five enjoyed it for a total of $7.

The best part of the trip, however, came with the Air Force Base, a visit that I would recommend for anyone who is even remotely interested in aviation or the history of this country. Plan to spend hours, however. Two days would be better.

Based in two hangars and on a sprawling landscape that features many outdoor exhibits in between, the air museum boasts around 200 aircraft. On a well marked path through the main hangar, visitors will find that they're on to something great when one of the first things they see is an exact replica of the first successful heavier-than-air craft flown at Kittyhawk by Orville and Wilbur Wright. (The real one is in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.)

Later they'll find the B-29 used in the atomic bomb test at Nagasaki, Japan, in 1945. They'll be able to touch the Apollo 15 space module, the last to take U.S. men to the moon. They'll also see the giant B-57, which stretches the width of a hangar.

Huge wall panels explain the chronological history of air travel, beginning with our earliest flying machines, going all the way to the Korean War. I was tired of reading. Actually, my kids were tired of me reading.

Presidential planes are on display, along with a collection of movie celebrities who served in World War II. There are vivid displays of the weapons used in various armed conflicts.

We spent three hours and saw almost all of what we wanted to see, but for the price we can afford to go back — the visit cost nothing save for souvenirs.

Anybody wanting information about either military career or writing, United States Air Forces, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio 45433-6518/(513)255-3286; or the Indianapolis 500, P.O. Box 224, Speedway, Ind. 46224/(317)241-2241.

2 tax deductions available

To the editor:

I would like to once again remind Venetian Township taxpayers to make sure they are receiving all the deductions to which they are entitled.

Since the tax office opened this summer we have helped a number of people reduce their taxes by filing for the Senate Bill 1790 and/or Homestead exemptions.

I urge everyone to look at the left column of the tax bill to see if a tax deduction greater than appears below the "Senate Bill 1790" or "Homestead" lines. If you are buying the property you actually live in, you are probably entitled to the Senate Bill 1790 deduction which can, in some cases, substantially reduce your tax liability.

The Homestead deduction is for homeowners over 65 years of age and they may also qualify for the Senate bill deduction.

Many times, persons buying homes have their taxes paid by a bank or mortgage company from an escrow account. Often they don't even see their tax bill and are just given an amount they need to pay for taxes, insurance, etc.

Ask your lender for a copy of your tax bill and, if you have any doubts concerning your proper deductions, please call my office before your bill is paid.

Even though the lender may be paying your taxes for you, it is your money.

Finally, All Venice Township taxes must be paid to the Venice Township collector before Sept. 1. Do not send any payments to the county treasurer until Sept. 1 or later.

CASEY KRAKOWIECKI

Plea bargaining curtailed, more felons facing trials

To the editor:

I must compliment the (Alton) Telegraph for its position on drunken driving. This is an important issue that should be discussed by the public. Your report made a several points in my office that will be the basis for several constructive changes.

I must take exception, however, to a characterization of the former state's attorney, which I believe is my administration that focuses on the negative and ignores the positive. I understand that injustice makes headlines and that routine cases barely attract attention, but there are many positive changes that are taking place in this office.

The must compliment the (Alton) Telegraph for its position on drunken driving. This is an important issue that should be discussed by the public. Your report made a several points in my office that will be the basis for several constructive changes.

During my campaign against the former state's attorney, I promised to end the practice of bargaining away charges to avoid trial. In 1989, the felon division tried to do just that.

In 1990, my office sent more felons to prison than ever during the previous administration (277 in 1989). Going to trial is risky; the state can lose and the accused can go free. But a willingness to vigorously prosecute creates a different atmosphere for the criminal. Eventually, felons get the idea that the deal is not worth getting to get any benefit.

When I came into this office 18 months ago, I inherited a record docket with a record number of cases pending. Today there are about the same number of felons pending as there were in Dick Allen's first year.

A great difference, but proof that great difference, but proof that things are moving in the right direction.

These changes have occurred with budget penalties smaller than St. Clair County's state attorney, a county of similar population and volume of cases.

I have to agree with the Telegraph that this office has not done justice to the kind of justice that people of Madison County should demand. I promised that kind of justice in my campaign and I care very deeply about delivering it.

I have learned (much to my dismay) that the system will not change overnight. That we are, after all, merely humans engaged in the pursuit of what is right.

I have been embarrassed during the past 18 months and I have learned a few lessons but I will always be proud of the hard work and dedication that went into bringing them around.

Are we there yet? Obviously not, but I have a staff that is gaining experience and confidence.

Lone rose at memorial said it best

To the editor:

A multitude of thanks to all the veterans groups and citizens and the Rev. Harold Maynard, guest speaker at the fifth anniversary of the Greater Granite City War Memorial program Memorial Day.

Also the magnificent Tri-City Tabernacle choir, dressed in their choir robes and directed by the Rev. Ron Stratton.

They were a welcome addition to the memorable occasion honoring our 229 war dead and it was the first time ever that a choir was present for this day. AWETS Posts 51 and 204 and the Navy Mothers were among those participating in wreath-laying.

A lone rose wrapped in cellophane lay at the base of the memorial, with a note, "Rich, I think of you every day," which was symbolic and just about says it all for our beloved deceased veterans.

They are gone, but will always be remembered for their supreme sacrifice for our country.

On Veterans Day there also will be a program at Memorial Park sponsored by the Daughters of American Revolution Post 100. We look forward to having everyone there to honor our living veterans who made the long journey home from the war.

Pharmacists asking help to reduce prescription prices

To the editor:

Local pharmacists are asking their customers to take an active part in a nationwide effort to lower the cost of prescriptions.

Information is being disseminated to customers on how the general public can help community pharmacists reduce more equitable pricing from pharmaceutical manufacturers.

Data is presented which shows that prices to consumers can be reduced by as much as 58 percent if the effort is success-warehouse buys in larger quantities than the favored entities.

Pharmacists claim that lower prices are offered on the basis of "who you are" rather than "how much you buy."

Discriminatory pricing is devised by manufacturers as a competitive tool to keep hospitals and similar institutions from using less-expensive generic medications or therapeutic alternatives over higher-priced name brand medications.

During hearings held on July 18, 1989, by the Senate Special Committee on Aging, Sen. Lloyd Kahl, D-Iowa, exposed four identical bottles of Motrin, a pain medication, ranging in price from $32.50 to some pharmacies all the way down to $5 to favored entities.

Pharmacists have other examples of discriminatory pricing available in their pharmacies for review by the general public.

Additional evidence presented at the hearing showed that medications are sold by manufacturers in some European countries for as much as 82 percent less than the same medications are sold in the same manufacturers in the United States.

In Canada, the prices to pharmacies average 37 percent less than U.S. prices.

The Special Committee on Aging invited more than 20 pharmaceutical manufacturers to appear before the committee to explain their pricing policies, but only one accepted.

This is the first time pharmacists have absorbed a big portion of the price increases imposed by the manufacturers, the prices which patients pay for prescriptions continues to inflate much faster than the Consumer Price Index.

Local pharmacists are not alone in this campaign. A nationwide movement known as the Pharmacy Freedom Fund has been launched by community pharmacists seeking Congressional action to halt the ballooning cost of prescription medications.

The goals of the PFF are to:

"Provide detailed information on discriminatory pricing by drug manufacturers."

"Educate the public on how that type of pricing is causing patients to pay higher than necessary prices for prescriptions; but nothing will be done about discriminatory pricing until Congress hears the hue and cry of the general public."

"Propose a plan of action to combat the problem."

Basically, we believe drug manufacturers use discriminatory pricing to offer special prices to different classes of patients. For example, hospital maintenance organizations (are often offered much lower prices than community pharmacies (independent or chain) even when the independent buying group or chain have made available sample letters to Congress along with appropriate addresses and other information, to assist consumers in urging Congress to investigate the pricing practices of pharmaceutical manufacturers.

Victor Barnhart, a native of Madison, majored in music in college but switched to computer programming because he didn't think much of the financial prospects of a career in music.

Barnhart, 33, worked for three years as a computer programmer for McDonnell Douglas, where he says he made good money. But Saturday he officially embarks on a new career—one not known for being lucrative.

Barnhart will become the first parishioner from St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison to be ordained as a priest. The congregation was formed in 1912.

"Funny how it all works out," Barnhart said of his career change.

The ordination will take place at 9 a.m. at the St. Louis Cathedral on Lindell Boulevard at Newstead Avenue in St. Louis. At 2 p.m. Sunday—Father's Day—the new "father" will assist in celebrating his first Mass as a priest. That service will be at St. Joan of Arc Church on Hampton Avenue at Pernod Avenue in St. Louis.

The church secretary at St. Mary's, Irene Baker, said Barnhart will become only the third priest ever from the Quad City area.

The first two are Monsignor Paul Sheridan and the Rev. M.J. "Jack" Quilligan.

'I didn't go into the seminary because I hated my job ... I just thought I'd rather make this my life's work than working with computers.'

—Victor Barnhart

The new priest says he enjoyed his work at McDonnell Douglas. "I didn't go into the seminary because I hated my job"—but was drawn increasingly into lay missionary activities. For a while, he played the guitar during Masses at Menard State Prison.

"It really met a need in my life," he said. By age 27, he had decided to become a priest.

"I just thought I'd rather make this my life's work than working with computers."

Of his financial prospects as a priest, Barnhart said, "I'll make enough to live on. But there are other things more important as far as I'm concerned."

Barnhart has spent the last 5½ years in the seminary. "It's hard to believe the day is actually here," he said Monday during a lull from his temporary duties as a deacon at St. Louis Cathedral.

Barnhart is the son of Robert and Rita Barnhart of Madison. Both are retired teachers.

Robert Barnhart said his son's announcement that he would become a priest "came out of the clear blue sky." But, he said, upon reflection he realized the signs had been there years earlier, when Victor was still in college.

"I'd come home from bowling, and he'd be sitting there reading the Bible."

Victor confirmed that was when he first got serious about his faith.

"I always went to church. The practice of religion is something I was always faithful to. But I didn't really feel it personally until I was in college."

Barnhart is not outwardly ultra-pious. He has a good sense of humor, as revealed in his comments about his assignment by the Archdiocese to serve as an assistant pastor at St. Ambrose in the heavily Italian "Hill" neighborhood of south St. Louis.

Barnhart, noting that he knows deaf signing, related what his associates had been telling him:

"Everybody keeps kidding me about it, telling me I'm going down there because I can already talk with my hands."

World-class convention center will be in the true heart of this region

Rivalries and disagreements probably will always exist within the bi-state metropolitan area. How could two and a half million people ever agree on everything?

But H.C. Milford has helped and pleased nearly everyone since taking over for Gene McNary in October as the St. Louis County executive.

McNary wanted to build a football stadium and related facilities near the Missouri River in west county, intensifying a pattern of moving the region's "center of gravity" farther and farther westward, away from Illinois. But the plan lacked sufficient support and was scrapped.

MILFORD'S COOPERATION greatly broadened support for a convention center and domed stadium structure to be built at the Cervantes Convention Center in downtown St. Louis.

The project seems assured of becoming a reality, with the city, county and state sharing the cost.

The Sheraton St. Louis Hotel and Cervantes will be torn down because its site straddles the future 50-yard-line, but a 25-story Hilton with 1,100 rooms will be built between Sixth and Seventh streets, Convention Plaza (Delmar) and Lucas Avenue.

Hailed as an economic and cultural boon to the bi-state area, the project reaffirms downtown as the central focus of this region. And it is doable, which makes all the difference in the world. The better an imaginative scheme, little if it has no chance of being achieved.

POLITICS IS DESCRIBED as the art of compromise, and Milford has demonstrated, with great skill, how it works.

However, for purposes of trying to get elected later this year to a full term as executive, he said in his announcement of candidacy Sunday that he is a business man and not what he termed it as "unpolitical."

Milford contrasted his opponent's noisy hotel-ballroom political rally with his own simple announcement at a "backyard barbecue."

He admitted he is holding some big-money events and will spend $1,200,000 during the campaign. Most of St. Louis' top business leaders are in his corner. *****

PRESERVATION of wilderness land and expansion of county membership on the St. Louis airport commission were cited by Milford as among his accomplishments.

Also, the transformed convention center is a monumental step forward, and Milford helped make it happen. County voters this year approved a new hotel tax to help pay for it, his urban and city residents were promised substantial minority

Also, Westfall will have to work hard to match Milford's convention center triumph and momentum. The county Democratic strength in St. Louis County has been growing, and he could win.

Westfall this week assailed Milford for adopting "negative" campaign tactics.

THE ENCLOSED STADIUM, a "positive" to which Milford can proudly point, will be used for football on only 10 or 11 occasions a year, even if St. Louis succeeds in obtaining a World Football League expansion team.

But the 70,000-seat arena can be used for a wide range of spectacles, competitions, meetings, expositions and events throughout the year. Once built, the construction will be an 11-member board, headed by Robert J. Baer, which held its first meeting June 8.

This region before long will be able to compete for even the biggest organizational gatherings and conventions, and could be the site of a Super Bowl, national nominating convention, basketball Final Four tournament and other major programs.

The possibilities are unlimited.

ALREADY MOVING AHEAD is a program to expand Cervantes by a full two blocks to the south. McCarthy Brothers Construction Co. on June 5 submitted the low bid of $55.9 million, an amount close to the advance estimate.

Although this work will add 50 percent to the present size of the convention center, the southern improvement (costing $80 million overall and supported by city restaurant and hotel taxes authorized by voters in 1988) will be dwarfed by the $250 million project.

And the new convention headquarters hotel will represent still another major expenditure—$130 million. *****

THESE ARE LARGE investments, but the business of hosting conventions also involves some eye-opening figures.

Elks' and Lions' international meetings here this summer—with sessions lasting seven days and four days—will attract delegations who are likely to spend a combined $28 million on varied goods and services.

Delegates of all kinds coming to St. Louis totaled $483,000 in 1989, moving our area closer to the ranks of the top 10 convention locations.

When 70,000 seats are added, all of this region's tourism and convention records seem sure to be broken.

St. Mary's to celebrate

Final plans have been made for the three-day parish picnic to be held June 15-17 on the parish grounds of St. Mary's Church, 10th and Alton in Madison. This is the 60th anniversary.

A proxy baby shower was held on June 3 at the Granite City Moose Hall for Lori (Rhodes) Allen, a former resident of Madison, who is expecting her second child.

Lori is the wife of Danny Allen who is serving with the U.S. Air Force in Fayetteville, N.C. They are the parents of a daughter, Melissa, 7.

The shower was hosted by grandmothers, Betty Allen, Anna Mae Rhoads and Donna Duncan and friends.

The gifts were brought unopened and sent to the hospital.

A buffet lunch was served and attendance prizes were awarded.

Attending were: Doris Stengel, Deanna Allen, DeLoys Rhoads, Lisa Liddig, Carla Voloski, Pauline Holzman, Barbara Frazee, Virginia Kittel, Janet Allen, Sue Busch, Leora Rodgers, Dottie Caffrey, Carol Davis, Frieda Gattung, Delores Riddle, Teresa Rhoads, Helen Krakowicki, Charelene Vold-Tunay, Lucille Kornik and Pauline Voloski.

The Glik-Nic (store picnic) was held on Sunday, June 3, at the town's community Park in Edwardsville for the association.

A barbecue buffet was served.

Associates attending from the Granite City Bellemore Gliks and St. Louis Jess St. Louis were: Joseph and June Glik; Bob, Zoe and Charlie Glik; Jim, Angie and Peter Glik; Jeff and Brenda Fay Glik; Ann Dolan.

would make money two ways—by charging fees for accepting trash and by selling the electricity generated by the burning to power companies. For the $50-60 million project to be economically viable, the company would need to operate at close to the plant's 500-ton-per-day capacity.

The county would have to agree to allow trash from outside the county to be burned in the plant.

Franklin said he was "almost positive" all of the aldermen would attend the County Board meeting June 20 in support of the plant.

The Environmental Committee of the County Board met this morning. Garrett said yesterday that he planned to attend that meeting to urge the committee's members not to leave a trash-to-energy plant out of its proposals to the board.

County Board member Bob Stille of Edwardsville, a member of the committee, has said he felt certain the board would include trash-to-energy in its plan.

The board has also discussed the possibility of a second plant—possibly in Alton.

Stille has said that although Madison County now has the lowest dumping fees in the area ($20 to $23 a ton), he believes the county could benefit by getting involved with recycling and composting which will cause landfill fees to rise $10 or $15 a ton in the near future.

As business manager, she supervises such areas as credit, admissions, bookkeeping, payroll and the switchboard. At one time, she supervised 45 employees.

Before moving to SEMC in August 1943, she was a school teacher for two years.

Four of her sisters are Catholic nuns. Sister Catherine, Rosemary, Mary Paul and Anselma, and two of her brothers are Catholic priests in the Franciscan order, Father Ermin and Father Victorian. Two of her nieces also are nuns.

Costello said the manager of the business called him at 5:05 a.m.

"I'd like to complement the police and fire departments; they responded immediately."

"My manager tells me he feels that because of the fire and smoke damage that in order to rebuild we'll have to gut the inside."

Costello said the manager of the business set off the holdup/burglary alarm, which alerted police, and subsequently the fire department.

Both scenes were secured by police pending investigation. A representative from the State Fire Marshal's office was called in to assist in the investigation of both fires.

Probation ruling prompts protest

By John D. Milazzo

McKey said she will do all she can to see that Henhaus loses his re-election bid in November against GOF candidate John Shimkus. McKey said, "She did she particularly angered that Michael Henhaus is employed in his father's office."

"I'm outraged that Mick Henhaus sees fit to employ anyone else, without the kind of record his son has," she said.

Henhaus on Wednesday responded to the criticism by acknowledging his son works in the office as a clerk in the collections department. Henhaus cited the fact his sons' sentencing hearing that his sons did not provoke the fight with McKey and with Todd Fee of Edwardsville.

"I don't know what she wants me to do. Until he gets another job, how is he going to pay for his legal expenses? That was one of the conditions of his probation," Henhaus said, adding that even if he wanted to fire Michael he couldn't because his son is covered by a union contract.

"Also, it's not like Mike is out running the streets and going into the bars."

"He's got to be home by 7 p.m., attend three AA (Alcoholics Anonymous) meetings a week and submit to two urinalysis tests a week."

There is no market just directly west of Super 1 Stop. It's on a separate parcel of property and wasn't damaged.

The other half of the property is owned by Amiel and Elaine Cuetz, the former who is Costello's friend and a prominent Belleville lawyer.

"I'm at a loss to understand what the motive was or what happened. I only hope that officials pursue it vigorously. It's been a very good business to us. We've had it for six years."

"Our goal is to do whatever it takes to get back in business again."

Costello said the manager of the business called him at 5:05 a.m.

"I'd like to compliment the police and fire departments; they responded immediately."

made a good play and also drove in the two runs.

"He swings the bat about as well as anyone we have," said Burnett. "And Richie Schardan really hit the ball hard every time he was up. I felt good getting after him, if only we had Waterloo in our bad. They got some big, good-looking players. They'll start winning some games soon."

The Waterloo High School team is 19-12 this spring and made it to the Class A sectional finals before losing to eventual state runner-up Dupo.

"Scott came back to pitch well and (Brad) did a nice job in relief," said Waterloo coach Bob Maurer. "We just didn't get the hitting when we needed it. A hit here and there was all we needed."

The triplets will start Jame Neumann on Thursday night at 8 p.m., then Burnett said Reeves will start Friday's home game against Wood River (7:30), the newest addition to the league. Waterloo will look for a doubleheader game. Post 113 is in a four-way tie right behind North Division-leading Alton.

Luke T.S.-38 Jesus "And he cried, saying, Jesus, thou son of David, have mercy on me."

One of the outstanding miracles of the Bible — and it almost didn't happen! This man was blind and in despair. He was silent because he had heard that Jesus could perform miracles, and when Jesus passed by, he cried out to Him for mercy.

Then a strange thing happened. The people around the blind man began to shout, "Get him away! Tell him to keep quiet about his need! Thank God he didn't take their advice." He cried out louder and louder until this time Jesus stopped and asked him to come forward. The man responded and asked Jesus if he might have his sight. Jesus simply said, "Thy faith hath saved thee." And he was healed.

When you have a need, don't hesitate to ask to seek, or to knock. We have not because we ask not.

Only the Lord will have mercy on you.

Today.

the relief corps after that.

"Ever since my arm injury last year I've had trouble putting the ball on the outside corner," he said. "It's good to get the ball in the middle. I used to be moving it around more."

Robertson's hit drove in Tim Hogan in the bottom of the sixth for a 7-5 lead, but Vernon Lux got in trouble with two walks to start the seventh. Ogden's bunt put runners at second and third, but Archer came in and got Jackson on a ground ball. After Rich Stierwalt was hit by a pitch to end the bases, Paul Hayes flew to center.

Greco's two-out triple in the eighth off Tim Bateman scored Tim Hogan, who had doubled, and Robertson started a 5-4-3 double play on Jackson's groundout to end the game.

"It makes a big difference having Tommy in the lineup," said DePew. "He and Robby (Robertson) make it tough for other teams to pitch around the middle of our order."

Lefty Scott Harper did a good job keeping the Miners at bay after the first seven frames.

"We don't see that many left-handers and we have trouble with them," said DePew. "But Edwardsville couldn't get the key hit. (Steve) Blumenauer is their big hitting, but he can't carry the whole team. They really need (Mark) Ringerling to get healthy and start hitting."

Ringerling is on the comeback trail from a bad shoulder injury. He was 0 for 5 in the No. 3 slot Wednesday.

"Mark is still trying to get his bat speed back," said Hendrickson, who roomed with Ringerling this year at SIUE.

Wilson completing work at Shell Oil Co. refinery

GRANITE CITY — S.M. Wilson & Co. is nearing completion on a $4 million plant. Shell Oil Co. is enhancing all its Roxana manufacturing complex.

Working under an incentive program, S.M. Wilson will have had six months to pour 5,000 cubic yards of concrete. The foundations are designed to support the heavy steel tanks and pumps that are part of the enhanced wastewater treatment plant.

Working under an incentive program, S.M. Wilson will have had six months to pour 5,000 cubic yards of concrete. The foundations are designed to support the heavy steel tanks and pumps that are part of the enhanced wastewater treatment plant.

"Construction safety is of paramount importance to both Shell and Bechtel," said Wayne Hellemeyer, project manager for S.M. Wilson. "To even get on the bidder's list we had to provide detailed documentation of our quality and safety programs."

"On this job, for instance, we're staffing a full-time safety director and a full-time quality assurance/quality control director."

In addition to Hellemeyer, S.M. Wilson's project team included William Pugh, general field supervisor, and Lee Tonack, safety director.

S.M. Wilson & Co., founded in 1921, was ranked among the nation's top 400 construction contractors in Engineering News-Record's McGraw-Hill's national construction weekly. It is a diversified contracting company, performing construction in diverse markets.
